"In a country like India where 50% of the population is dependent on agriculture, this phenomenon is alarming", observed Satya. Explaining about the challenges that are troubling farmers, Satya said "pests, extreme heat, scarcity of water and unseasonal rains are the major factors that are proving to be the farmers' menace". The team of Kheyti has tried to address these problems by interacting with hundreds of farmers and discussed them about the possible solutions. Before finding the solutions, the team members of Kheyti have learned the nuances of farming and practically known the difficulties in farming narrated Satya.
